Objective

- My goal is to become a successful front-end developer. I want to create projects that meet the requirements of the Kosovar market and that are functional and with which customers are satisfied. I have fast learning skills of new technologies, so I consider a new challenge as an opportunity to advance my work. My ambitions are that the skills I possess do not focus on one direction but over time acquire other skills and abilities that help me become a true programmer that is one step with the future and two steps with technology.

Qualifications

I have been learning frontend development for almost a year and a half. And during this time I have gained a lot of knowledge in this field. I have general knowledge in front-end development and mobile development, more specifically in: HTML, CSS, BOOTSTRAP, JS, React.JS, and ReactNative.
